

Cycle Works

Collaborate, Build, Succeed!

A challenge in team creativity and communication skills

The Cycle Works Program is the ultimate communication simulation program. This program serves as an excellent example of how teams function during their day to day work environments. During this session teams begin to understand that they must break down barriers and enhance cross-functional teamwork to complete the task of constructing a bike within a given time frame. This highly engaging event illustrates the need for effective decision making, sharing of information and efficient communication skills. The event is complete when all teams showcase their building skills by giving their completed bike to a local charity or needy family.

Indoor Team Development

Sawmill Creek brings the fun inside with The Cycle Works Program. If you are looking for a high energy indoor teaming experience, then The Cycle Works Program is what your team has been looking for.

The Cycle Works Program is the The Ultimate Indoor Team Development Event.

During this session the group is divided into different teams each with distinct roles. This challenging event requires teams to build a bike, piece by piece until the completed bikes are given to a local charity or needy family.

CYCLE WORKS OUTCOMES

Participants will:

- have a better understanding of existing team dynamics.
- experience the need to identify roles, responsibilities, and accountabilities.

- interact with colleagues on a personal level in a fun and informal environment.
- identify the advantages of cooperation vs. competition.
- give back to community.